How are you Fixed if your Business Partner Dies?

You would then need cash to adjust affairs with creditors, to buy out your partner's heirs; to pay a substitute to do his work.

You can have cash always ready for this emergency.

Business men are fast discovering the support given them by business insurance. Each partner insures his life. This insurance is paid for by the firm, and the insurance money comes to the firm.

Your partner means money to your business. Make sure you do not lose that money even though you lose him.

VORBECK TURNS THE BATTERIES ON R. K. WILSON

Says Jackson Mayor Hornswoggled Him In Chat Over the Telephone.

STEAM ROLLERS WON FOR JUDEN, HE SAYS

Candidate For Postmaster Calls Upon Secretary to Explain Committee's Actions

Dr. J. C. Vorbeck, candidate for the Postmastership, last night shoved Kent Wilson, Mayor of Jackson, right into the Ananias club. In a letter to The Tribune Thursday, Mr. Vorbeck said he had not promised Dr. Vorbeck and D. A. Glenn that he would prevent the County Committee from endorsing a candidate for successor of E. W. Flentge.

Dr. Vorbeck charges Mr. Wilson with hornsogging him. "He assured me that he would keep the Committee from giving its indorsement at that meeting," said the physician, "and that is why I did not attend the meeting. It looks like steam roller tactics to me. Every candidate should have had an opportunity to present his case before that committee, and if Mr. Wilson had not assured me that he would prevent an indorsement, I would have been present."

"An indorsement obtained under the conditions that won Tom Juden his, is not worthy of the name. He was present to talk for himself and the rest of us were absent. That is what I call pretty rough work."

The statement printed in yesterday's Tribune that the Democrats were planning to put E. W. Flentge on the slids caused a sensation in many circles. It was discussed on almost every corner in the downtown sections. Dr. Vorbeck informed The Tribune last night that he had received additional information yesterday in substantiation of his charges that Mr. Flentge had been perniciously active in politics during the campaign.

Harry E. Alexander, former Prosecuting Attorney, informed Dr. Vorbeck yesterday that he had filed a complaint with Congressman Russell against Flentge and that Mr. Russell announced the matter would get a hearing as soon as Congress reconvenes.

"Whether I win the office or not," said Dr. Vorbeck, "I am going to get E. F. Flentge's scalp. Since I announced my plans relative to removing the Postmaster, I have been offered much assistance. If he were a Democrat and holding office under a Republican administration, he would have to behave. For a Democratic Postmaster to campaign for Democrats while holding office under a Republican would mean dismissal, and the same rule ought to apply to both parties."

Efforts to get information concerning the charges against the Postmaster failed yesterday, but it was stated by a well known Democrat that a list of the charges against Mr. Flentge would be announced soon.

The announcement of the plans to remove the present Postmaster overshadowed the campaign of the army of applicants who want the job. However each of the candidates was busy with their petitions again yesterday.

Dr. Vorbeck's letter, which was received by The Tribune last night follows:

To The Editor of The Tribune:

The statements of the Secretary of the County Democratic Committee, which appeared in your paper Friday morning does not answer my charge of the Committee's unfairness toward myself and the other candidates. Neither does it free the Secretary from blame either as to the action the Committee took or as to his inability to prevent the action.

He did not advise me in our conversation over the phone that it would be necessary to prevent the Committee from making indorsements. Had he so advised me, I would have been present.

On the contrary he informed me that the indorsements would be taken up at a later date, which proved not to be the case.

The only question, which, when answered by the Secretary, will place the blame where it belongs, is this one: Did the Secretary, advise the obstinate and determined Committee that he as an official member of that body had informed Mr. Glenn and myself that no indorsements would be made until a later date? If he

I'LL TRIM PHILLIPS AGAIN, SAYS KAGE

Mayor, Announcing Candidacy, Predicts He'll Outrun Old Opponent.

Mayor F. A. Kage informed The Tribune yesterday that he would be a candidate to succeed himself as Mayor in the spring election.

"I am glad to know that Mr. Phillips has decided to run again. I trimmed him two years ago and I expect to repeat it in 1915," said the chief executive.

"I had not given the matter much thought until recently. I have been called upon frequently by friends who feel that I should stand for re-election. I have therefore decided to make the race again."

"I feel certain I will win. I believe that my record in the office entitles me to another term. I have performed my duties of the office in a manner satisfactory to those who supported me in my previous campaign. I have been fair to everybody. I believe the people who supported me two years ago desire my re-election and I shall not disappoint them."

NEW BRAZILIAN CABINET

did this, then the Committee is responsible.

If he did not so advise the Committee, then he is responsible for the action that the Committee took in indorsing himself and Tom Juden without regard for its obligation of the welfare of the Democratic party, which it represents and its obligation to give every candidate the common courtesy of at least a hearing.

Such action is of little value to the person or persons it is intended to benefit, because the party as a whole will refuse to be bound by it, particularly in this instance.

Respectfully,
Dr. J. C. VORBECK.

News From The County Seat

Jackson, Nov. 18.

Julius Schaper, who is with the McAttee Mercantile company, went out to visit his mother in the country this morning, and found his brother, Alvin, had had a narrow escape from death. Alvin was hauling wood and the team of young horses hitched to the wagon took fright at a hog and ran away, upsetting the wagon, tearing and breaking things up and it was only by a miracle Alvin was not struck by or pinned under the wagon bed.

Mesdames Lacroix and Allen of Chaffee, came to Jackson yesterday to help their mother, Mrs. B. Schwab, pack her household goods, preparatory to moving to Mrs. Allen's at Chaffee for the winter.

AUTOS IN HEAD-ON WRECK; TWO HURT

Little Daughters of Senator Lane Injured in Mishap on Rock Levee Road.

In a head-on automobile collision on the Rock Levee Road about five miles south of this city Sunday evening, a car driven by Ray Simpson of this city, was badly demolished, and Mr. Simpson with his companions, the two little daughters of Senator Thomas F. Lane, received some minor bruises and were severely shaken up.

The car with which they collided was driven by Frank Compas of Kelso, and his machine was also crippled. Mr. Compas was not injured.

Mr. Simpson's automobile was totally disabled and was left by the roadside. One wheel was torn completely off, a fender was stripped, and the radiator was damaged.

The Compas car sustained a sprung axle and a punctured tire, but after some temporary repairs were made, was able to continue its homeward journey unassisted.

Mr. Compas had been in the Cape attending the dedication exercises of the new hospital, and was returning to his home. It was growing dark, and the roads had become slippery from a drizzling rain, and as the cars met, Mr. Simpson pulled to the side of the road, and when Compas attempted to turn out his car skidded and he was suddenly dashed into the other machine.

Just as Mr. Simpson and his companions were starting to walk into the Cape, they were overtaken by Max and Arthur Wielpeltz who were returning in their car from a nutting trip in the Scott County woods. The victims of the disaster were taken aboard the Wielpeltz machine and delivered to their homes in this city.

A car was sent out yesterday morning to bring in the disabled machine.
